Columbus Woman Is Killed In Car Crash North of City

ONE KILLED — Mrs. Florence B. Jones, Columbus, a passenger, was killed yesterday following the collision of this car with another vehicle on Route 23 and County Road 511 north of Circleville. State Highway Patrolmen said she suffered a fractured neck. Five other persons were injured in the accident. (Photo by Beaver Studio)

An elderly Columbus woman was killed and five other persons injured in an auto accident at 12:40 p. m. yesterday at the intersection of Route 23 and County Road No. 511 (old Route 23), about three miles north of Circleville.

Fatally injured was Mrs. Florence Butts Jones, 74, a former resident of Pickaway County and the Stoutsville community.

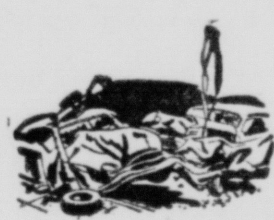

She was a passenger in an auto driven by Mrs. Jennie Grabill, also of Columbus.

Yesterday's fatality marked the eighth death on Pickaway County highways during 1961. Five of the traffic fatalities have occurred within the last five weeks.

Mrs. Jones was killed instantly when the auto in which she was riding was struck on the right side by a car driven by Neil L. Patterson, 48, Detroit, Mich. She suffered a fractured neck.

Mrs. Fay Fausnaugh, sister of the traffic victim, was treated at Berger Hospital for head and back injuries. Mrs. Grabill was treated for a fractured arm and later transferred to a Columbus Hospital.

Famed Cellist To Be Heard

White House Books Spaniard's Concert

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pablo Casals, the politically conscious 84-year-old cellist, will play at the White House tonight as culture takes another bow on the New Frontier.

The occasion is a formal dinner in honor of Casals' old friend, Gov. Luis Munoz Marin of Puerto Rico, who is no stranger to the arts. Before turning to politics, Munoz was highly regarded as a poet, and also had been an editor, publisher and writer.

By his own choice, Casals, considered by many the world's greatest cellist, will not dine with the guests of President and Mrs. Kennedy. He will be limbering up, preparing for the concert that will be one of his rare appearances in this country.

A native of Spain, Casals once vowed never to play in countries that recognize its dictator, Generalissimo Francisco Franco. The United States does, and Casals has not been heard in a public concert in this country since 1928.

He occasionally has played for closed audiences, such as in 1958 when he appeared at the annual United Nations Day concert in New York and received a thunderous ovation.

The President extended a personal invitation to Casals to play at tonight's dinner. During last year's presidential campaign, the cellist wrote an open letter in support of Kennedy.

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Fifteen suits charging Cutter Laboratories sold faulty antipolio vaccine have been settled out of court for $1,727,000, attorney Melvin Belli announced Sunday.

Antipolio Vaccine Lawsuit Is Settled

The Berkeley pharmaceutical firm said total settlements to date have exceeded insurance coverage by more than $1 million. The latest settlement brought to more than $3 million the total settlements growing out of charges that some vaccine marketed by Cutter in 1955 contained live polio virus.

In test cases, juries found Cutter innocent of negligence in manufacturing the Salk vaccine, but awarded damages on the ground that the firm breached an implied warranty since the vaccine caused the disease it was designed to prevent.

Use of Force On Katanga Debated in U.N.

Province's Secession From Congo Brings Demands to Council

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Demands that the United Nations use force to end the secession of Katanga Province were expected with renewal today of the Security Council debate on the Congo.

Ethiopian chief delegate Tesfaye Gebre-Egzy and Foreign Minister Justin Bomboko of the central Congo government were listed as the first two speakers before the 11-nation council.

Bomboko said privately last week he wanted the council to order the U.N. force in the Congo to help the Leopoldville government's army end Katanga's 16-month-old defiance of the central government.

Western sources said the United States and Britain feel Katanga must be brought back into the fold by peaceful means only.

Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia cabled U.N. headquarters Nov. 1 that the council must act decisively "to ensure the integration of Katanga into the Congolese nation." Two days later Ethiopia, Sudan and Nigeria asked for a council meeting to consider the situation "caused by the lawless acts of mercenaries" officering the Katanga army and air force.

Western sources said the United States and Britain had been talking with other delegations about a council resolution that would:

1. Affirm the territorial unity of the Congo, including Katanga.
2. Welcome the establishment last Aug. 2 of Premier Cyrille Adoula's central coalition government.
3. Express hope for an end to Katanga's secession by negotiation.
4. Call again for the ouster of foreign mercenaries from Katanga.
5. Declare that no arms should go to the Congo except through the United Nations.
6. Make some reference to acting Secretary-General U. Thant that would have the effect of transferring to the Congo mandates given the late Dag Hammarskjöld.

Heart, Lung Death Data Under Study

DETROIT (AP)—Dead men do tell tales.

Deaths mark the great epidemics and changing ways of the living—and now they may indicate that heart disease and lung cancer are nearing the peak of their deadliness, a scientist said today.

Dr. Reimert T. Ravenholt was a featured speaker at the opening session of the annual meeting of the American Public Health Association. He told of a study of death records for the Seattle-King County area that went back 85 years.

Recent records indicate that the death rates from coronary heart disease and lung cancer have ceased to increase for persons under 60, he said, and also indicate that "both these epidemics should reach a plateau or peak within 10 to 15 years."

Dr. Ravenholt cited death statistics based on official records and newspapers dating back to 1876, compiled with the aid of University of Washington students.

The records for the Seattle area told the story of changing times through the changing ways in which men met their death, he said.

U.S. Spacecraft Troubles To Delay Man Orbit Effort

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Spacecraft trouble has delayed an attempt to orbit a chimpanzee and virtually wiped out United States' hopes of orbiting a man this year.

Project Mercury officials called off Tuesday's scheduled chimp launching after a test Sunday disclosed a gas leak in the space capsule's in-flight control system.

This necessitated removing the two-ton craft from atop the Atlas booster rocket, which is on the launching pad. Inspection, repair and replacement will take at least a week, perhaps as much as two weeks.

Authoritative sources reported the spacecraft trouble was a leak in the hydrogen peroxide gas system which controls the position of the vehicle in flight. The gas is highly corrosive and could have damaged electrical or other systems.

Successful completion of the chimpanzee shot this week was almost a must if the National Aeronautics and Space Administration was to have a chance of rocketing a human astronaut into orbit in 1961.

A minimum of four weeks is required between Mercury-Atlas launchings to qualify all systems. Such a schedule can be met only if all checkouts are perfect, something not yet achieved in preparations for Mercury firings.

Eight weeks have passed since an Atlas successfully hurled an unmanned capsule into orbit in September. Several minor problems with the complex missile and capsule stretched out the planned four-week checkout period for the chimpanzee shot.

One project source reported: "We were down to the point where every day was important. Now, every hour is essential. With fantastic luck we could still send a man up this year."

Others were not so optimistic. Two Soviet cosmonauts orbited earlier this year. Two American astronauts took brief suborbital rocket rides.

The plan calls for the Atlas to hurl the chimp-carrying capsule into orbit 100 to 150 miles above the earth at 17,400 miles an hour. After three sweeps around the globe, lasting 4½ hours, reverse rockets are to slow the vehicle for return to earth. Parachutes are to ease it into the Atlantic Ocean about 1,000 miles southeast of Cape Canaveral.

When the launching was postponed, a large part of the Atlantic Fleet, was being deployed across the Atlantic from Cape Canaveral to the African Coast to act as recovery forces.

Colleges Said Shortchanged By Tax Funds

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — State colleges and universities, needing money as never before, are being shortchanged in the battle for tax dollars, President John A. Perkins of the University of Delaware said today.

Action in the last session of Congress was blocked, Perkins said, by "ecclesiastical politics and obsessive fear of federal control."

In a keynote address prepared for the centennial convocation of the American Association of Land Grant Colleges and State Universities, Perkins said the states are reluctant or unable to levy taxes for public colleges.

The association is observing, during the 1961-62 academic year, the signing of the Morrill Act by President Abraham Lincoln in 1862. That act, in effect, set aside federal funds for the establishment of at least one public college in every state. There are now 68 land grant colleges in the 50 states and Puerto Rico.

Perkins said the Morrill Act inaugurated "a dramatic revolution in higher education" and established federal revenues "solely for instruction without leading to federal controls."

President Kennedy struck the same note in a filmed message to the association Sunday night.

Cemetery Vandals Overturn Markers

CLEVELAND (AP) — Grave markers, some of them over graves of Civil War dead, were overturned and broken by vandals at a 116-year-old cemetery in suburban Olmsted Falls Sunday, police reported.

American flags set by graves in observance of Veterans Day were pulled up and thrown in a pile.

William J. Gilligan, cemetery trustee, said all 40 grave markers that were overturned were damaged in some way.

The cemetery, once known as Union Cemetery because of the large number of Union dead buried there, was established in 1845. Patrolman J. Donald Shirer called it "the worst example of vandalism I've seen in this community in the 22 years I've been here."

Gray, Aged Molotov Returns To Moscow without Fanfare

MOSCOW (AP) — Former Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov disappeared into the secret depths of Soviet society Sunday as if he had been dropped into a well.

Gray and aged, he came from Vienna by train with his gray and aging wife, to face a purge by which the Communist party hopes to wipe out a little more of the memory and a few more of the sins of the Stalin regime.

He came clearly without restraint. Not a public official came to greet him at the train. If he had chosen freedom, he could have remained abroad.

A few plainclothes policemen showed up at the station, but they kept well back of the crowd of Western correspondents who came to question Molotov. The questions were met by the same "nyet" with which he had beaten back approaches to East-West agreements after World War II. "Let's change the subject," said Stalin's longtime associate when asked about his reported expulsion from the party and Premier Khrushchev's denunciation of him at the recent Soviet Communist party congress.

"We had a fine trip," said his wife, Paulina. "Many of the passengers came to our compartment to say 'goodbye and good luck.'"

Except for the foreign newsmen, only the couple's daughter, Svetlana, and her husband were on hand to greet them. Molotov, now 71, showed no outward concern at the question mark hanging over his future. Seemingly relaxed, he talked with his daughter and son-in-law about their children.

indicated to Western correspondents that he might have something to say about the charges made against him in the party congress that he had participated in major purges of party officials under Stalin.

Reports came through unofficial channels that expulsion from the party had already been voted by Molotov's party cell. The same reports said he had appealed to the supreme party court, the Central Commission.

Soviet press officials, when asked about Molotov, pretended not to know that he had returned to Moscow.

Columbus Man Hurt in Crash

Two Autos Collide At Road Crossing

A Columbus man was injured and taken to Mercy Hospital at 10:15 a. m. today following a two-car accident at the intersection of the Circleville - Winchester Road and Perrill Road, about seven miles northeast of Ashville.

Jesse Duvall of Groveport Pike suffered lacerations of the arms and legs and a severe bump on the head as a result of the accident.

Duvall was injured when an auto driven by his wife, Fern C. Duvall, 48, passed a stop sign at the intersection and collided with a small farm-service truck. The truck was driven by Junior E. Mathias, 34, of Bremen.

The Duvall auto traveled about 30 feet from the point of impact and came to halt after crashing into a fence. The right front fender of the auto was heavily damaged, Deputy Dixie Walters said.

THE LEFT front fender and grill of the truck also were heavily damaged, Deputy Walters added.

Mrs. Duvall was cited for failing to yield the right of way, according to the deputy.

Golf, Bowling Poor Exercise?

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Golfing, regarded by some as good exercise, is regarded by at least one physical fitness authority as "the best way to spoil a walk."

"And bowling isn't much better," says Dr. Thomas K. Cureton, a member of President Kennedy's Youth Fitness Council.

Dr. Cureton, director of the University of Illinois Physical Fitness Laboratory, contends that physical exercise must be continuous and should be rigorous enough to cause perspiration.

Nov. 28 Set As Date for Geneva Talks

Russians Reminded Of Resolution OK'd By United Nations

MOSCOW (AP) — The United States and Britain today asked the Soviet Union to return to Geneva Nov. 28 and begin further talks on a nuclear test ban treaty.

The resumption was proposed in similar notes delivered by American and British messengers to the Foreign Office.

There was no immediate information here as to whether the Russians will accept the offer. But last week the chief Soviet delegate to the United Nations, Valerian Zorin, seemed to rule out such a possibility. He said a nuclear test ban treaty must be worked out within the framework of a general disarmament agreement.

The Geneva talks were recessed after the Soviet Union broke the moratorium on nuclear testing Sept. 1. Since then, the Russians have exploded more than 30 nuclear devices and have indicated they are prepared to go on testing if need be.

The British and the Americans reminded the Russians in their notes that a resolution passed by the General Assembly Nov. 8 called for a resumption of the nuclear test ban talks.

The note also reminded the Soviet Union that the joint Soviet, British and American communiqué which announced the recess of the Geneva talks did in fact use the word "recess."

The notes said that if the date Nov. 28 did not suit the Soviet Union, Britain and the United States would be willing to consider another date, but it would have to be a date which would permit a progress report to the United Nations before Dec. 14. The General Assembly resolution called for such a report by that date.

Office Seekers To List Funds; Final Tab OK'd

An official final tabulation of all results in last Tuesday's general election showed no changes in any contest for office or vote on an issue in Pickaway County, the board of elections announced today.

Successful candidates will be able to obtain their certificates of election when filing an itemized listing of campaign expenses and receipts anytime after Wednesday. Until the Wednesday deadline candidates may, if they request, obtain recounts of precincts or entire wards.

If a recount is asked and the order of finish not altered in its favor, the candidate requesting the new tabulation must bear the cost of such action.

Deadline for returning financial statements is 4 p. m. Dec. 22. Failure to file either a statement of receipts and expenditures or a statement of no receipts and expenditures by the deadline will disqualify a person from standing for any office for the next five years.

Ill-Fated Monkey's Body Is Recovered

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Searchers have found the body of a small squirrel monkey killed in the explosion of an Atlas missile.

The Atlas, with the 1½-pound monkey named Goliath in its nose, blew up 30 seconds after it was launched Friday on an intended 5,000-mile test flight.

Large pieces of the wrecked were retrieved from the floor of the Atlantic Ocean about 100 yards offshore. Goliath's body, discovered in the tangled debris Sunday, was unmarked except for a spot of blood on the head.

Aircraft Control System Recommendations Get Nod

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has directed the Federal Aviation Agency to begin working on the recommendations of a special group which studied the nation's aircraft control system.

Kennedy released the report of the Project Beacon task force Sunday. He ordered FAA Administrator N. E. Halaby to put as many of the recommendations as possible into effect, and to confer with Defense Department officials about some of the long-range proposals.

The study group, headed by Richard R. Hough, operations vice president of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., recommended a five-year capital outlay of $500 million to update the aircraft control program.

Some of the recommendations

are expected to stir controversy, including one that considerable use be made of existing military facilities to control civilian plane traffic.

The report recommended that only the radar portion of a military weapons control system known as SAGE—Strategic Air Ground Environment—be used for aircraft control. It said the Defense Department seems uncertain of SAGE's future, making it questionable whether it could be depended on as a complete aircraft control and guidance system.

Kennedy, in endorsing the report directed Halaby to come up with a system using only those elements of SAGE which could be most useful in air traffic control. The task force also recommended that the present FAA control system be extensively modified and improved.

At another point, the report rejected possible use of the much-heralded three-dimensional radar, stating that it did not offer enough promise for accurate reporting of plane altitude.

Another recommendation was that pilots lacking full instrument flight rating be put in a new category to be called controlled visual rules. They would fly visually in clear weather but would be controlled by the FAA to keep them separated from other planes.

The committee also proposed some new rules for the more congested airports and the most heavily traveled airways.

Among them are:

1. A speed limit of 230 miles an hour below 8,000 feet.
2. FAA control of all flights above 14,000 feet and in certain cases down to 8,000 feet.
3. Special arrival and departure lanes over busy airports, with planes segregated according to speed.

Cloud Denies College Fund Cuts Planned

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Rep. Roger Cloud, R-Logan, says Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has encouraged a campaign to present Ohioans with a distorted picture of state university appropriations.

"Somebody is leaving the impression we are cutting appropriations," said the House speaker in the Republican-controlled legislature. "It is simply not true."

Cloud said "Statistics will prove that appropriations for state universities outstrip enrollment of recent years."

Cloud's supporting data showed that university appropriations during the past four years have been increased 40.4 per cent by the legislature, while student enrollment in that period has increased 28 per cent.

"Future enrollments might come faster and the legislature may then be forced to review its appropriation," the House speaker added. "But for the present, appropriations have been increased in proportion to enrollment."

Cloud offered statistics showing that appropriations granted by the House — requiring action in the special session starting Tuesday — are $14,030,280 higher for the 1961-62 biennium than for the previous two-year period.

"The public has been oversold that there is a dire, acute need (for university appropriations)," Cloud said. "Statistics will prove that appropriations for state universities outstrip enrollment of recent years."

Cloud's supporting data showed that university appropriations during the past four years have been increased 40.4 per cent by the legislature, while student enrollment in that period has increased 28 per cent.

"Future enrollments might come faster and the legislature may then be forced to review its appropriation," the House speaker added. "But for the present, appropriations have been increased in proportion to enrollment."

Nov. 28 Set As Date for Geneva Talks

Russians Reminded Of Resolution OK'd By United Nations

MOSCOW (AP) — The United States and Britain today asked the Soviet Union to return to Geneva Nov. 28 and begin further talks on a nuclear test ban treaty.

The resumption was proposed in similar notes delivered by American and British messengers to the Foreign Office.

There was no immediate information here as to whether the Russians will accept the offer. But last week the chief Soviet delegate to the United Nations, Valerian Zorin, seemed to rule out such a possibility. He said a nuclear test ban treaty must be worked out within the framework of a general disarmament agreement.

The Geneva talks were recessed after the Soviet Union broke the moratorium on nuclear testing Sept. 1. Since then, the Russians have exploded more than 30 nuclear devices and have indicated they are prepared to go on testing if need be.

The British and the Americans reminded the Russians in their notes that a resolution passed by the General Assembly Nov. 8 called for a resumption of the nuclear test ban talks.

The notes said that if the date Nov. 28 did not suit the Soviet Union, Britain and the United States would be willing to consider another date, but it would have to be a date which would permit a progress report to the United Nations before Dec. 14. The General Assembly resolution called for such a report by that date.

Office Seekers To List Funds; Final Tab OK'd

An official final tabulation of all results in last Tuesday's general election showed no changes in any contest for office or vote on an issue in Pickaway County, the board of elections announced today.

Successful candidates will be able to obtain their certificates of election when filing an itemized listing of campaign expenses and receipts anytime after Wednesday. Until the Wednesday deadline candidates may, if they request, obtain recounts of precincts or entire wards.

If a recount is asked and the order of finish not altered in his favor, the candidate requesting the new tabulation must bear the cost of such action.

Deadline for returning financial statements is 4 p. m. Dec. 22. Failure to file either a statement of receipts and expenditures or a statement of no receipts and expenditures by the deadline will disqualify a person from standing for any office for the next five years.

Ill-Fated Monkey's Body Is Recovered

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Searchers have found the body of a small squirrel monkey killed in the explosion of an Atlas missile.

The Atlas, with the 1½-pound monkey named Goliath in its nose, blew up 30 seconds after it was launched Friday on an intended 5,000-mile test flight.

Large pieces of the wrecked were retrieved from the floor of the Atlantic Ocean about 100 yards offshore. Goliath's body, discovered in the tangled debris Sunday, was unmarked except for a spot of blood on the head.

Aircraft Control System Recommendations Get Nod

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has directed the Federal Aviation Agency to begin working on the recommendations of a special group which studied the nation's aircraft control system.

Kennedy released the report of the Project Beacon task force Sunday. He ordered FAA Administrator N. E. Halaby to put as many of the recommendations as possible into effect, and to confer with Defense Department officials about some of the long-range proposals.

The study group, headed by Richard R. Hough, operations vice president of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., recommended a five-year capital outlay of $509 million to update the aircraft control program.

Some of the recommendations

are expected to stir controversy, including one that considerable use be made of existing military facilities to control civilian plane traffic.

The report recommended that only the radar portion of a military weapons control system known as SAGE—Strategic Air Ground Environment—be used for aircraft control. It said the Defense Department seems uncertain of SAGE's future, making it questionable whether it could be depended on as a complete aircraft control and guidance system.

Kennedy, in endorsing the report directed Halaby to come up with a system using only those elements of SAGE which could be most useful in air traffic control.

The task force also recommended that the present FAA control system be extensively modified and improved.

At another point, the report rejected possible use of the much-heralded three-dimensional radar, stating that it did not offer enough promise for accurate reporting of plane altitude.

Another recommendation was that pilots lacking full instrument flight rating be put in a new category to be called controlled visual rules. They would fly visually in clear weather but would be controlled by the FAA to keep them separated from other planes.

The committee also proposed some new rules for the more congested airports and the most heavily traveled airways.

Among them are:

1. A speed limit of 230 miles an hour below 8,000 feet.
2. FAA control of all flights above 14,000 feet and in certain cases down to 8,000 feet.
3. Special arrival and departure lanes over busy airports, with planes segregated according to speed.

Antipolio Vaccine Lawsuit Is Settled

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Fifteen suits charging Cutter Laboratories sold faulty antipolio vaccine have been settled out of court for $1,727,000, attorney Melvin Belli announced Sunday.

The Berkeley pharmaceutical firm said total settlements to date have exceeded insurance coverage by more than $1 million. The latest settlement brought to more than $3 million the total settlements growing out of charges that some vaccine marketed by Cutter in 1955 contained live polio virus.

In test cases, juries found Cutter innocent of negligence in manufacturing the Salk vaccine, but awarded damages on the ground that the firm breached an implied warranty since the vaccine caused the disease it was designed to prevent.

U.S. Reconnaissance Jets Help as Scouts for Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Four U.S. Air Force F101 reconnaissance jets are credited by reliable informants with a powerful assist to South Viet Nam as scouts in its war against Red rebels.

South Vietnamese sources say the jets, which have been operating from Saigon's International Airport for three weeks, are flying missions to pinpoint photographically the secret bases, staging areas and movements of the Communist Viet Cong troops.

They said highly detailed pictures taken by the jet pilots guide South Vietnamese fighter-bombers in strikes against well-guarded and sometimes almost inaccessible guerrilla installations.

The reports coincided with the arrival of the U.S. Pacific Fleet commander, Adm. John M. Sides, for a one-day visit. Asked if the 7th Fleet might be used in Viet Nam if the military situation worsens, Sides replied, "The center of gravity of the 7th Fleet is always near where the most trouble is."

A large number of high-ranking air force and marine officers have been arriving in Saigon for several days. All say officially that their visits are part of Southeast Asia tours for routine indoctrination.

Saigon newspapers have been telling of a series of successful raids by government warplanes on rebel boats, buildings and troop units.

The United States provided the planes and the U.S. Air Force has built up an extensive supply and training operation for South Vietnamese airmen and ground crews.

However, a U.S. Embassy official played down the role of the F101s. He said they came here Oct. 22 for exhibition during the celebration of South Viet Nam's National Day Oct. 26—a celebration which was cancelled long in advance—and remained "just to log some flying time."

Stock Issues Move Away From Gains

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market backed away from its best early gains and moved irregularly early this afternoon. Trading was active.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .60 at 265.70 with industrials up .70, rails up .10 and utilities up .50.

Fractional gains or losses were general among key stocks. Some wider movements appeared.

The market's strong advance of last week was running into some technical resistance.

Chemicals moved higher, some of the blue chips making substantial gains. Scattered buying boosted some electronics. Airlines drifted off while the picture was mixed for oils, rails, tobacco, drugs, utilities and rubbers. Mail order-retail stocks were slightly higher.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.38 at 726.21. This average reached a historic closing high of 726.33 on Sept. 7.

Prices were irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange in moderately active trading.

Corporate bonds were mixed in quiet trading. U.S. government bonds eased.

Kempton Jersey Receives Award

A Ton of Gold Certificate has been awarded a registered Jersey cow owned by Donald H. Kempton, near Williamsport.

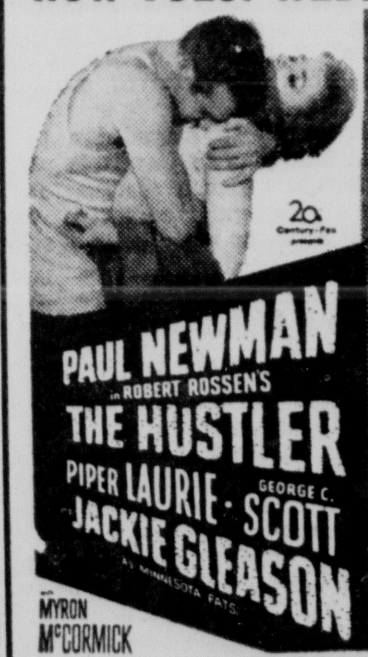

The award went to Dreamer Volunteer Etta that produced 2,056 pounds of butterfat from 41,937 pounds of milk in four years. The certificate was presented by The American Jersey Cattle Club from its Columbus headquarters.

The production of the Jersey during the four years of official testing far exceeds that of the "average" cow in the United States. AJCC officials commented. All tests were checked by Ohio State University students and The American Jersey Cattle Club.

The Ton of Gold award aids Jersey breeders in selecting cows with consistently high production over a long period.

Add a little paprika and celery seed to butter or margarine, mixing well, and spread on thin toast; then return to the oven to heat and crisp some more. Good to serve with a salad.

R. A. Smith Named Director For '62 March of Dimes

Russell A. Smith, 1079 Georgia Road, today was named director of the 1962 New March of Dimes for Pickaway County.

The appointment was made by Mark McElroy, Attorney General of Ohio and State March of Dimes Chairman, and announced by John B. Weigle, chairman of the county chapter of The National Foundation. Campaign dates are January 2-31.

"The New March of Dimes already has made a substantial beginning in its expanded program of seeking to prevent birth defects and arthritis in addition to continuing to seek total control of paralytic polio," the new campaign director declared.

The people of Pickaway County, through their splendid support of the March of Dimes for more than 20 years, have contributed substantially to a great health program that resulted in the Salk and Sabin vaccines, he noted.

U.S. Reconnaissance Jets Help as Scouts for Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Four U.S. Air Force F101 reconnaissance jets are credited by reliable informants with a powerful assist to South Viet Nam as scouts in its war against Red rebels.

South Vietnamese sources say the jets, which have been operating from Saigon's International Airport for three weeks, are flying missions to pinpoint photographically the secret bases, staging areas and movements of the Communist Viet Cong troops.

They said highly detailed pictures taken by the jet pilots guided South Vietnamese fighter-bombers in strikes against well-guarded and sometimes almost inaccessible guerrilla installations.

The reports coincided with the arrival of the U.S. Pacific Fleet commander, Adm. John M. Sides, for a one-day visit. Asked if the 7th Fleet might be used in Viet Nam if the military situation worsens, Sides replied, "The center of gravity of the 7th Fleet is always near where the most trouble is."

A large number of high-ranking air force and marine officers have been arriving in Saigon for several days. All say officially that their visits are part of Southeast Asia tours for routine indoctrination.

Saigon newspapers have been telling of a series of successful raids by government warplanes on rebel boats, buildings and troop units.

The United States provided the planes and the U.S. Air Force has built up an extensive supply and training operation for South Vietnamese airmen and ground crews.

However, a U.S. Embassy official played down the role of the F101s. He said they came here Oct. 22 for exhibition during the celebration of South Viet Nam's Nation Day Oct. 26—a celebration which was cancelled long in advance—and remained "just to log some flying time."

Stock Issues

Move Away From Gains

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market backed away from its best early gains and moved irregularly early this afternoon. Trading was active.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .60 at 265.70 with industrials up .70, rails up .10 and utilities up .50.

Fractional gains or losses were general among key stocks. Some wider movements appeared.

The market's strong advance of last week was running into some technical resistance.

Although incoming orders for steel were reported improving, most steel shares were off slightly. A drop in copper prices in some world markets accompanied a generally lower trend among copper stocks.

Chemicals moved higher, some of the blue chips making substantial gains. Scattered buying boosted some electronics. Airlines drifted off while the picture was mixed for oils, rails, tobaccos, drugs, utilities and rubbers. Mail order-retail stocks were slightly higher.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.38 at 726.21. This average reached a historic closing high of 726.53 on Sept. 7. Prices were irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange in moderately active trading.

Corporate bonds were mixed in quiet trading. U.S. government bonds eased.

Kempton Jersey

Receives Award

A Ton of Gold Certificate has been awarded a registered Jersey cow owned by Donald H. Kempton, near Williamsport.

The award went to Dreamer Volunter Etta that produced 2,056 pounds of butterfat from 41,937 pounds of milk in four years. The certificate was presented by The American Jersey Cattle Club from its Columbus headquarters.

The production of the Jersey during the four years of official testing far exceeds that of the "average" cow in the United States. AJCC officials commented. All tests were checked by Ohio State University students and The American Jersey Cattle Club.

The Ton of Gold award aids Jersey breeders in selecting cows with consistently high production over a long period.

Add a little paprika and celery seed to butter or margarine, mixing well, and spread on thin toast; then return to the oven to heat and crisp some more. Good to serve with a salad.

R. A. Smith Named Director For '62 March of Dimes

Russell A. Smith, 1079 Georgia Road, today was named director of the 1962 New March of Dimes for Pickaway County.

The appointment was made by Mark McElroy, Attorney General of Ohio and State March of Dimes Chairman, and announced by John B. Weigle, chairman of the county chapter of The National Foundation. Campaign dates are January 2-31.

"The New March of Dimes already has made a substantial beginning in its expanded program of seeking to prevent birth defects and arthritis in addition to continuing to seek total control of polio," the new campaign director declared.

The people of Pickaway County, through their splendid support of the March of Dimes for more than 20 years, have contributed substantially to a great health program that resulted in the Salk and Sabin vaccines, he noted.

"THE 1962 New March of Dimes offers opportunity for all of us to be a part of work aimed at prevention of still more of the great cripples that afflict so many millions of Americans today," Smith said. "I am confident that the people of this county will continue to fight for better health for themselves and their children through the New March of Dimes, both as volunteer workers and through their contributions."

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — V. M. Molotov's life has been ruined in a hair-splitting contest. About the only consolation left him is to wonder: Who's next?

The old Bolshevik, now 71, thinks Stalin, his great friend and benefactor, was a more aggressive revolutionary than Premier Khrushchev, and he said so. For this he has been disgraced and Sunday went home to Moscow jobless.

Just as any differences between American Democrats and Republicans, seen from Moscow, must seem infinitesimal, so any differences in the ultimate aims of Stalin and Khrushchev, looked at from here, are practically invisible.

Many of the old Bolsheviks, executed by Stalin, were restored by Premier Khrushchev to good standing in the Russian history books after Stalin's death, although this must have been cold comfort to them then.

That was four years ago when Khrushchev first denounced Stalin as a murderous monster. At the time he was in a power struggle, which he won, with Molotov and other old Stalinists like Georgi Malenkov and Lazar Kaganovich.

They were demoted to obscure jobs, under the Kremlin rule of winner take all, but otherwise left unharmed because Khrushchev was trying some changes such as more civilized treatment for the Soviet people at home and a foreign policy more flexible and imaginative than Stalin's but less openly pugnacious and stupidly stumbling.

Here are a couple examples of the stupidity:

1. Stalin tried to shut off Berlin with a blockade. President Truman countered with the airlift. Stalin tried to be tough. He wasn't tough enough. Because he lacked courage to risk war by shooting down the airlift, the blockade failed.

2. He tried to test the West's will with a war in Korea, letting the North Koreans start it. This not only got nowhere, but Stalin so scared the Allies they formed their NATO military alliance, the last thing he wanted. Nobody has accused Khrushchev of not wanting to spread communism. But in the hydrogen bomb age, when both sides could destroy each other, he is more subtle than Stalin, so far using devices short of war.

But this wasn't good enough for stubborn old Molotov who described Khrushchev's tactics as despicable.

USE THE CLASSIFIEDS

By James Marlow

"antirevolutionary" and "pacifist." Khrushchev now has linked Molotov and the others with Stalin's terror, although he was Stalin's boy, too.

The result: The Soviet Communist party's 22nd congress recommended that Molotov be thrown out of the party. Thus Molotov's whole life's work—done as he thought right, no matter how it looks to others—goes down the drain.

Since the party switches tactics to fit its needs at any given time, Molotov can only hope that in time Khrushchev will be denounced as an enemy of communism and he himself restored to good standing in the history books.

But what makes Molotov's belief that Khrushchev is antirevolutionary and thus anti-Stalin look grotesque when observed from here is that Stalin abandoned Communist revolution not long after he took over from Lenin in the 1920s in order to build up "socialism in one country." This was simply recognition of a reality.

Russia at the time didn't have the strength to export revolution. So Stalin set about building up the Soviet Union as a No. 1 world power. The foundation he laid at home—in industrial and nuclear development—is what now enables Khrushchev to talk tough.

There are some who look upon both Stalin and Khrushchev not as revolutionaries at all but as managers. This kind of conclusion seems too early. Stalin was beginning to stir himself after World War II when he had power.

This country's possession of the atomic bomb kept him from being too brazen. If it had not been for that alone after the war, when Europe was prostrate, he might have tried with his huge and intact armies to overrun the area with war and revolution.

There is nothing to indicate Khrushchev is any less revolutionary than Stalin. He is just not as clumsy. And he, like Stalin, is now living in a nuclear age when he has to be careful. This doesn't mean he won't push where he can.

Library Slated For Kennedy's Mementoes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has announced that a library and museum will be built in Cambridge, Mass., for his presidential papers and mementoes.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said that "I think that is a proper assumption" when asked whether the Library will be on the grounds of Harvard University at Cambridge and connected with the university, of which the President is a graduate.

Kennedy's action followed a precedent set by his three immediate predecessors.

The library of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt is located at Hyde Park, N.Y., that of former President Harry S. Truman at Independence, Mo., and that of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower at Abilene, Kan. All were constructed with private funds, but the government maintains them now.

This will be the arrangement for the Kennedy library—it hasn't been named that officially, yet.

Salinger said it was premature to get into the question of a committee to solicit funds for the library-museum.

General Motors Dividend Stirs Economic Interest

NEW YORK (AP) — A single spark has ignited a blaze of enthusiasm in the nation's business and financial circles.

The incendiary action was General Motors Corp.'s declaration of its first extra dividend in six years.

The giant automaker's decision to raise its 1960 dividend to $2.50 a share from $2 was interpreted as an expression of confidence that 1962 would be a big year for the car industry.

That would reflect an opinion that business in general would be good.

GM's announcement sent a rising stock market into one of its biggest gains of the year Wednesday. Trading volume exceeded six million shares for the first time in months.

It was estimated that the extra dividend added $140 million to the purchasing power of GM's 850,000 stockholders.

Other, smaller dividend increases have been made recently by such companies as Standard Oil (New Jersey), Boeing, Brunswick and U.S. Gypsum.

Before the November upturn in dividend action, payments were running two per cent ahead of last year. In the first nine months of this year, dividend payments made to owners of common stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange totaled $7,440,907,000, the 19th consecutive year in which a record was set for the period.

In the railroad industry, where merger efforts are rife, an attempt was revived to put together the biggest system of all — a combination of the Pennsylvania and New York Central lines.

Directors of the two railroads decided to negotiate a merger as rapidly as possible. A similar effort failed in 1959.

If a merger is effected, it would result in a system with 20,000 miles of tracks in the East, Midwest and South, assets of $5.5 billion and annual revenues of $1.7 billion.

Automobile production during the week exceeded the year-ago level for the third straight week. Output of passenger cars was an estimated 152,000, compared with 138,793 in the like week of 1960 and about the same as the previous week this year. The industry expects to build about 600,000 cars this month, best for any month of the year.

New car sales in the final third of October set a record of 191,700 for the period. This was nearly two per cent better than last year.

With the Big Three carmakers having signed new labor contracts, the steel industry expected an increase in orders which were delayed while strikes were on against General Motors and Ford.

But it was too early for production figures to reflect it. Output during the week totaled 2,044,000 tons, a slip from the 2,057,000 turned out the previous week.

The Commerce Department reported that new construction in October totaled $5.3 billion, a gain of five per cent over a year ago. Private construction outlays amounted to $3.7 billion, up six per cent from a year earlier.

Sales on the New York Stock Exchange this week totaled 19,282,600 shares compared with 17,949,230 the week before. Bond sales on the exchange totaled $31,355,000 (par value) this week, compared with $30,237,000 the previous week.

Now Boron has Carburetor Cleaner and Ice-gard

You get both at no extra cost!

Boron® has Carburetor Cleaner to clean your carburetor while you drive...and keep it clean!

The dirt in your carburetor is caused by deposit-forming fumes from your car and cars around you in traffic. These fumes pass through your air cleaner and deposit dirt particles on carburetor walls around the throttle plate (see arrows). This condition restricts air flow at idling speeds causing stalling, rough idling, gasoline waste. Boron with its special carburetor cleaner removes these deposits. It cleans dirty carburetors, and keeps clean carburetors clean.

Boron has Ice-gard® to stop fuel line freeze-up before it stops you!

In winter, water condensed from the air in your gas tank can settle in your fuel line and freeze solid. When this happens, chances are you're stuck until the tow truck comes. With the first full tank of Boron with Ice-gard, you get protection against fuel line freeze-up. Each additional tankful keeps the protection going strong. There's no need to add anti-icers. And no extra cost. To be completely protected all winter, use Boron with Ice-gard continuously!

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — V. M. Molotov's life has been ruined in a hair-splitting contest. About the only consolation left him is to wonder: Who's next?

The old Bolshevik, now 71, thinks Stalin, his great friend and benefactor, was a more aggressive revolutionary than Premier Khrushchev, and he said so. For this he has been disgraced and Sunday went home to Moscow jobless.

Just as any differences between American Democrats and Republicans, seen from Moscow, must seem infinitesimal, so any differences in the ultimate aims of Stalin and Khrushchev, looked at from here, are practically invisible.

Many of the old Bolsheviks, executed by Stalin, were restored by Premier Khrushchev to good standing in the Russian history books after Stalin's death, although this must have been cold comfort to them then.

That was four years ago when Khrushchev first denounced Stalin as a murderous monster. At the time he was in a power struggle, which he won, with Molotov and other old Stalinists like Georgi Malenkov and Lazar Kaganovich.

They were demoted to obscure jobs, under the Kremlin rule of winner take all, but otherwise left unharmed because Khrushchev was trying some changes such as more civilized treatment for the Soviet people at home and a foreign policy more flexible and imaginative than Stalin's but less openly pugnacious and stupidly stumbling.

Here are a couple examples of the stupidity:

1. Stalin tried to shut off Berlin with a blockade. President Truman countered with the airlift. Stalin tried to be tough. He wasn't tough enough. Because he lacked courage to risk war by shooting down the airlift, the blockade failed.

2. He tried to test the West's will with a war in Korea, letting the North Koreans start it. This not only got nowhere, but Stalin

so scared the Allies they formed their NATO military alliance, the last thing he wanted. Nobody has accused Khrushchev of not wanting to spread communism. But in the hydrogen bomb age, when both sides could destroy each other, he is more subtle than Stalin, so far using devices short of war.

But this wasn't good enough for stubborn old Molotov who described Khrushchev's tactics as jobless.

NOTICE OF MEETING OF SHAREHOLDERS OF THE First National Bank of Circleville

Notice is given that a meeting of the shareholders of this bank has been called by the Board of Directors to convene at the banking office located at 102 East Main Street, Circleville, Ohio on the 14th day of November, 1961, at 10:00 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of considering and voting upon the following matters:

(a) To increase of the common stock of the bank to $143,000 by the issuance of a $13,000 stock dividend, in connection with which the par value of the stock will be changed to $25 per share. The shareholders, of record on the date of the adoption of that resolution, will be entitled to share in the dividends in proportion to their respective holdings of common stock of the bank on that date.

(b) To further increase of the common stock of the bank from $143,000 to $156,000 by the sale of additional shares, of the par value of $25 each, at a sale price of not less than $75 each. The shareholders, of record on the date of the adoption of that resolution, will be accorded rights to purchase those additional shares, at $75 per share, in proportion to their respective holdings of common stock of the bank on that date.

(c) The adoption of a complete new set of articles of association of the bank in a current revised form which will provide in article Third for a sliding scale of from five to twenty-five directors, the present legal limits, in article Sixth for the identification of directors, officers and employees of the bank under certain conditions; and in article Eighth for the holding of an annual meeting as well as special shareholders meetings with a notice of at least ten days by first-class mail.

"antirevolutionary" and "pacifist." Khrushchev now has linked Molotov and the others with Stalin's terror, although he was Stalin's boy, too.

The result: The Soviet Communist party's 22nd congress recommended that Molotov be thrown out of the party. Thus Molotov's whole life's work—done as he thought right, no matter how it looks to others—goes down the drain.

Since the party switches tactics to fit its needs at any given time, Molotov can only hope that in time Khrushchev will be denounced as an enemy of communism and he himself restored to good standing in the history books.

But what makes Molotov's belief that Khrushchev is antirevolutionary and thus anti-Stalin look grotesque when observed from here is that Stalin abandoned Communist revolution not long after he took over from Lenin in the 1920s in order to build up "socialism in one country." This was simply recognition of a reality.

Russia at the time didn't have the strength to export revolution.

So Stalin set about building up the Soviet Union as a No. 1 world power. The foundation he laid at home—in industrial and nuclear development—is what now enables Khrushchev to talk tough.

There are some who look upon both Stalin and Khrushchev not as revolutionaries at all but as managers. This kind of conclusion seems too early. Stalin was beginning to stir himself after World War II when he had power.

This country's possession of the atomic bomb kept him from being too brazen. If it had not been for that alone after the war, when Europe was prostrate, he might have tried with his huge and intact armies to overrun the area with war and revolution.

Norway's state-owned telephone system is in trouble. In the capital city of Oslo, alone, there is a shortage of 50,000 telephones. Elsewhere the facilities serving that country's 738,000 telephone subscribers are overburdened. A survey group has described the situation as "desperate."

Reducing Factor of Luck

Fish forecasting has now been added to the branches of science. The purpose is to reduce the factor of luck in fishing by predicting where they're biting.

The joy of fishing, at least to sportsmen, is more often the hunt than the catch. So, if the ichthyologists achieve a fair measure of success with their predictions some of the fun may be removed along with the uncertainty.

Sound Money

Except for foreign aid and military spending abroad, the United States is in good shape in the balance of payments situation involving the dollar. But foreign aid and military spending are realities that cannot be ignored.

During the calendar year of 1960 the U.S. had a net dollar inflow of $6.4 billion including exports, payments, travel and other foreign spending. But due to aid, lending, etc., the overall deficit was $3.8 billion.

This is a drain on the gold reserves which have shrunk by $5.4 billion in four years and are the lowest in more than two decades. Foreign claims on U. S. gold now exceed the supply by more than $2 billion. Legal requirement is for a gold reserve of $11.4 billion, creating a potential gold deficit of $13.5 billion.

Obviously, if all gold claimants clamor-

And from that government bungle comes as nice a compliment to private enterprise as has been heard for a long time. The Norwegian study group recommends that a privately-owned U. S. telephone company be invited to come in and straighten out the state-owned system.

The forecasts are based on scientific knowledge of such factors as waste currents, temperature, salinity and so on. All these are sufficiently valuable to make fish forecasting about as hazardous as predicting the weather, especially in these parts.

For the angler, experience probably will continue to be the most dependable factor of all.

ed for their money, Uncle Sam would be in a jam. But most of them realize protecting the dollar is also protecting the free world.

At the end of this fiscal year the U. S. will have given away or loaned to foreign countries nearly $90 billion in 16 years. In addition, U. S. military spending—much of it for areas outside continental U. S.—is greater in relation to output than that of any Western nation.

The federal budget will be substantially out of balance this fiscal year, but Treasury Secretary Dillon pledges it will be in balance next fiscal year. That is one essential of a sound dollar.

The administration is making tentative moves to meet the requirements of sound money. Any other course would be extremely risky.

Average Bedroom Is Dangerous

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The most dangerous room in the average home is the bedroom. Three-fourths of all accidental falls occur in the home and more happen in the bedroom than any other part of the house.

Do you feel crowded in a modern airplane coach? It was worse in the days of the stagecoach. A ticket then entitled you to 15 inches of seating space—and you had to pay dearly if you traveled with more than 25 pounds of luggage.

Sports oddity: If a man made a different billiard shot every second, he would have to play 24 hours a day for more than two billion years to make all the possible shots.

What's in a name? Tula Finklea is Cyd Charisse, Aaron Chwatt is Red Buttons, Fritz Austerlitz

is Fred Astaire. Jim Stewart is Stewart Granger—and Marlon Brando is really Marlon Brando.

Don't give up hope if you have a heart attack. At least half of all people who suffer a coronary thrombosis recover fully and are able to resume their normal activities.

Former President Harry Truman says he doesn't dream. But scientists think everybody dreams whether he can recall them or not on awakening. The average person spends two hours nightly dreaming. Women usually dream more than men.

Language lesson: Television is a combination of "tele," a Greek word for "distant," and "vision," Latin for "image."

Oldtime etiquette: Bells and whistles were sometimes put in table knives a century ago. If a guest at dinner bragged or told a tall tale, the host rang a bell or blew a whistle, then presented the guest the knife with much ceremony. He kept it until someone else told a bigger whopper.

Sign in the window of the Cafe St. Denis, a French restaurant: "We spoke English here."

Best bet: Your son will have a better chance to wind up in the White House if he studies law. Twenty-four U. S. presidents were

Nature note: The stool pigeon is one of the world's most valuable birds. It is estimated that up to 90 per cent of felonious crimes are solved with the help of tips by police informants.

Odd legislation: In ancient India a law decreed that if a husband got into debt his wife could sell him into slavery to pay off the creditors.

See America first: The tourist industry now is the top income producer in Florida, New Mexico, Nevada, Maryland and Hawaii. It ranks as the second or third most important industry in 25 other states.

ONE OF THOSE new movie stars with extraordinary measurements is so candid and unpredictable that her studio has assigned two press agents to do her talking for her.

An enterprising reporter, however, cornered her when the press agents were out to lunch and came back with an interview that was a sizzler. The star confessed, for instance, that she liked to "wear dresses so tight that the men can't breathe." She also suggested a sure-fire way to keep children from biting their fingernails. "Other mothers should do what I did," she proposed cheerfully. "I just knocked my little boy's teeth out!"

Asked why she was seen so frequently with a wealthy and publicity-mad octogenarian, she explained, "He possesses that rarest of masculine virtues—about $15 million."

"You certainly seemed fascinated by that medical magazine in my waiting room," observed a doctor as he prepared to examine a patient. "Indeed I was," agreed the patient. "The issue you have out there announces the discovery of ether."

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M. D.
In spite of insulin, diabetes remains a mystery.

Insulin may keep sugar from flooding the circulation and pouring into the kidneys, while fats burn into sick-making acids. But why are diabetes-sufferers so vulnerable to infection?

Laboratory germs don't thrive so well in sweetened test tubes. Also infections—even ordinary boils and colds—can transform mild diabetes into a life-threatening monster.

Expectant mothers find insulin need growing along with Baby. If weight skyrockets faster than Baby and his attachments, diabetes often ranges out of control. Headaches, high blood pressure and kidney complications plague many diabetes-sufferers who are expecting.

Ordinary tests don't work, because all expectant mothers manufacture milk sugar which also pours through the kidneys. Blood sugar examinations can tell the difference.

Salt and water bloat Baby and womb until Mom looks like she's carrying quintuplets. More delicate than a tiny premature, Baby weighs in at more than 10 pounds. These large babies often arrive years before Mom's diabetes.

Blood vessel trouble usually follows diabetes. Kidneys weaken, nerves numb and vision fades as blood vessels break down. Your feet become tinder boxes where the slightest starch explodes into violent infection.

Daily foot baths help prevent this. Lubricate dry, cracking skin with lotion or lanolin. Rubbing upwards aids circulation. Wear clean stockings and wide shoes without irritating stitches and wrinkles. For a toenail trim, see a pediatrician, or cut each nail U-shaped, with the outside edges jutting forward. Ingrown toenails can kill; with each one you take your life in your hands.

You can prevent most complications by controlling your diabetes with that diet, insulin and medicine your doctor prescribed. Call him for even minor infections.

You can't fight back if your diabetes lurks undiscovered. Ask your doctor for the simple test. Any week can be Diabetes Detection Week!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

Case for General Walker

By George Sokolsky

General Edwin A. Walker has resigned from the armed services after serving his country as a commissioned officer for 30 years. He has not been given a trial. He has not been court-martialed for any violation of the military regulations of this country. As he stated to the United States Armed Services Committee:

"My career has been destroyed in its usefulness to my country. I cannot accept retirement with its emoluments and benefits. To do so would be a compromise with my principle."

Until General Walker has had his day in court, openly, so that all the American people can know exactly what happened, the conclusion must be that he has been unfairly treated, as General "Billy" Mitchell was unfairly treated, as General Douglas MacArthur was unfairly treated, as General Patton might have been unfairly treated but for public opinion. There can be no excuse for improper treatment for men in uniform.

General Walker takes the position:

"We are at war. We are infiltrated. We are losing that war every day. Are our hands tied, yours and mine? We need a substitute for defeat. If it is not within the power of this Congress to provide it—then the people of these United States are not truly represented."

The theory that a military man is silenced by his uniform cannot be substantiated in a free country. A military officer does not lose his mind or his capacity for articulation by the simple act of joining the Army. General Walker quotes George Washington to uphold his own position:

"If men are to be precluded from offering their sentiments on a matter, which may involve the most serious and alarming consequences that can invite the consideration of mankind, reason is of no use to us; the freedom of speech may be taken away, and dumb and silent we may be led, like sheep to the slaughter."

What has been General Walker's crime? He is opposed to Communism. He has recognized Soviet Russia as our enemy and in the indoctrination of the troops under his command he said so. Discussing this, General Walker said: "We have yet to agree among ourselves, and with our allies, to reach a simple definition—Communist is the enemy. We employ its agents in the teaching professions, allowing them to work on the fertile minds of youth seeking a champion to pit against a scapegoat. They infect our entertainment media. They long ago have infiltrated our government so that a scheme of subversion can be traced through three decades.

"Even our free press is exploited by Communist propagandists. Communist collaborators find rabid and militant defense among certain groups of our citizens, some of whom are sincerely confused and misguided. Governments which oppose the leaders of these groups and their purposes often are branded reactionary. In other nations of our hemisphere, we have seen these groups seize absolute power. In Cuba, it was with out help."

The time has come for a public hearing for and against General Walker. Let us get at the facts, whatever they may be. General Walker has already made a statement to the U. S. Senate Armed Services Committee but this has not received the circulation that it deserved. "The Bookmailer Inc." in New York has issued General Walker's statement in pamphlet form and that is now available to the public. It is reported that this Senate Committee will hold a public hearing late in November but unless it is fully open, it will serve no constructive purpose.

It will be impossible in an open hearing to avoid calling Adam Yarmolinsky to the stand to testify to the nature and cause of his opposition to General Walker, if any, and the relationship of that opposition to the Fund for the Republic of which Yarmolinsky was Secretary, although he is now Special Assistant to the Secretary of Defense. What part has Yarmolinsky played in the elimination of General Walker from the Army? Who is responsible for the peculiar action that was taken concerning General Walker?

When a public hearing has been held, we shall be told who is telling the truth and why those who are not telling the truth are taking the attitude that they are. Also we need to know what is the motivation for this sort of thing. A public hearing may discredit General Walker or it may discredit his superiors, but it cannot discredit the United States.

Call for Help

Norway's state-owned telephone system is in trouble. In the capital city of Oslo, alone, there is a shortage of 50,000 telephones. Elsewhere the facilities serving that country's 738,000 telephone subscribers are overburdened. A survey group has described the situation as "desperate."

Reducing Factor of Luck

Fish forecasting has now been added to the branches of science. The purpose is to reduce the factor of luck in fishing by predicting where they're biting.

The joy of fishing, at least to sportsmen, is more often the hunt than the catch. So, if the ichthyologists achieve a fair measure of success with their predictions some of the fun may be removed along with the uncertainty.

Sound Money

Except for foreign aid and military spending abroad, the United States is in good shape in the balance of payments situation involving the dollar. But foreign aid and military spending are realities that cannot be ignored.

During the calendar year of 1960 the U.S. had a net dollar inflow of $6.4 billion including exports, payments, travel and other foreign spending. But due to aid, lending, etc., the overall deficit was $3.8 billion.

This is a drain on the gold reserves which have shrunk by $5.4 billion in four years and are the lowest in more than two decades. Foreign claims on U. S. gold now exceed the supply by more than $2 billion. Legal requirement is for a gold reserve of $11.4 billion, creating a potential gold deficit of $13.5 billion.

Obviously, if all gold claimants clamor-

And from that government bungle comes as nice a compliment to private enterprise as has been heard for a long time. The Norwegian study group recommends that a privately-owned U. S. telephone company be invited to come in and straighten out the state-owned system.

The forecasts are based on scientific knowledge of such factors as waste currents, temperature, salinity and so on. All these are sufficiently valuable to make fish forecasting about as hazardous as predicting the weather, especially in these parts.

For the angler, experience probably will continue to be the most dependable factor of all.

ed for their money, Uncle Sam would be in a jam. But most of them realize protecting the dollar is also protecting the free world.

At the end of this fiscal year the U. S. will have given away or loaned to foreign countries nearly $90 billion in 16 years. In addition, U. S. military spending—much of it for areas outside continental U. S.—is greater in relation to output than that of any Western nation.

The federal budget will be substantially out of balance this fiscal year, but Treasury Secretary Dillon pledges it will be in balance next fiscal year. That is one essential of a sound dollar.

The administration is making tentative moves to meet the requirements of sound money. Any other course would be extremely risky.

Average Bedroom Is Dangerous

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The most dangerous room in the average home is the bedroom. Three-fourths of all accidental falls occur in the home and more happen in the bedroom than any other part of the house.

Do you feel crowded in a modern airplane coach? It was worse in the days of the stagecoach. A ticket then entitled you to 15 inches of seating space—and you had to pay dearly if you traveled with more than 25 pounds of luggage.

Sports oddity: If a man made a different billiard shot every second, he would have to play 24 hours a day for more than two billion years to make all the possible shots.

What's in a name? Tula Fink-lea is Cyd Charisse, Aaron Chwatt is Red Buttons, Fritz Austerlitz

is Fred Astaire, Jim Stewart is Stewart Granger—and Marlon Brando is really Marlon Brando.

Don't give up hope if you have a heart attack. At least half of all people who suffer a coronary thrombosis recover fully and are able to resume their normal activities.

Former President Harry Truman says he doesn't dream. But scientists think everybody dreams whether he can recall them or not on awakening. The average person spends two hours nightly dreaming. Women usually dream more than men.

Language lesson: Television is a combination of "tele," a Greek word for "distant," and "vision," Latin for "image."

Oldtime etiquette: Bells and whistles were sometimes put in table knives a century ago. If a guest at dinner bragged or told a tall tale, the host rang a bell or blew a whistle, then presented the guest the knife with much ceremony. He kept it until someone else told a bigger whopper.

Sign in the window of the Cafe St. Denis, a French restaurant: "We spoke English here."

Best bet: Your son will have a better chance to wind up in the White House if he studies law. Twenty-four U. S. presidents were attorneys. Only one was an engineer—Herbert Hoover. Two were former newspapermen. Warren Harding and John F. Kennedy.

Wise crack of the week: "There are only two kinds of women—clinging vines and power plants."

Nature note: The stool pigeon is one of the world's most valuable birds. It is estimated that up to 90 per cent of felonious crimes are solved with the help of tips by police informants.

Odd legislation: In ancient India a law decreed that if a husband got into debt his wife could sell him into slavery to pay off the creditors.

See America first: The tourist industry now is the top income producer in Florida, New Mexico, Nevada, Maryland and Hawaii. It ranks as the second or third most important industry in 25 other states.

Safety tip: Here's the real reason you shouldn't drive while weary: Studies show that driver fatigue is a factor in two-thirds of all fatal accidents.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

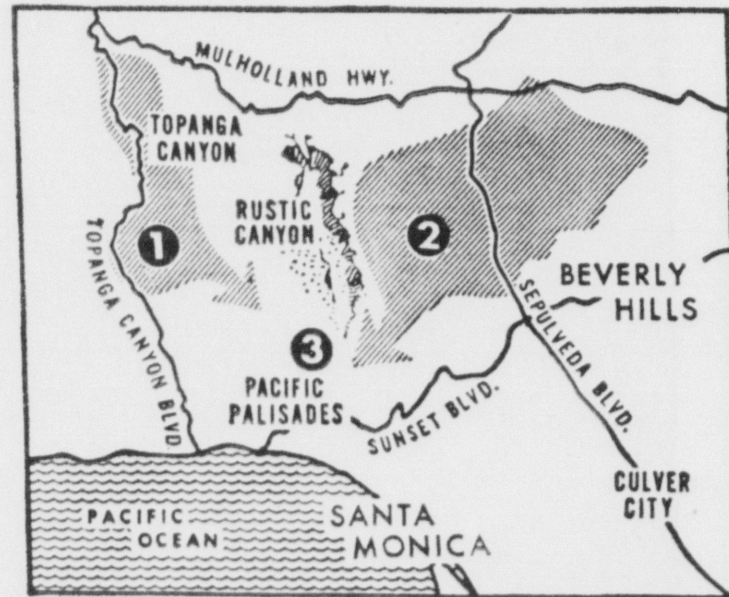

ONE OF THOSE new movie stars with extraordinary measurements is so candid and unpredictable that her studio has assigned two press agents to do her talking for her.

An enterprising reporter, however, cornered her when the press agents were out to lunch and came back with an interview that was a sizzler. The star confessed, for instance, that she liked to "wear dresses so tight that the men can't breathe." She also suggested a sure-fire way to keep children from biting their fingernails. "Other mothers should do what I did," she proposed cheerfully. "I just knocked my little boy's teeth out!"

Asked why she was seen so frequently with a wealthy and publicity-mad octogenarian, she explained, "He possesses that rarest of masculine virtues—about $15 million."

"You certainly seemed fascinated by that medical magazine in my waiting room," observed a doctor as he prepared to examine a patient. "Indeed I was," agreed the patient. "The issue you have out there announces the discovery of ether."

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M. D.
In spite of insulin, diabetes remains a mystery.

Insulin may keep sugar from flooding the circulation and pouring out the kidneys, while fats burn into sick-making acids. But why are diabetes-sufferers so vulnerable to infection?

Laboratory germs don't thrive so well in sweetened test tubes. Also infections—even ordinary boils and colds—can transform mild diabetes into a life-threatening monster.

Expectant mothers find insulin need growing along with Baby. If weight skyrockets faster than Baby and his attachments, diabetes often ranges out of control. Headaches, high blood pressure and kidney complications plague many diabetes-sufferers who are expecting.

Ordinary tests don't work, because all expectant mothers manufacture milk sugar which also pours through the kidneys. Blood sugar examinations can tell the difference.

Salt and water bloat Baby and womb until Mom looks like she's carrying quintuplets. More delicate than a tiny premature, Baby weighs in at more than 10 pounds. These large babies often arrive years before Mom's diabetes.

Blood vessel trouble usually follows diabetes. Kidneys weaken, nerves numb and vision fades as blood vessels break down. Your feet become tinder boxes where the slightest starch explodes into violent infection.

Daily foot baths help prevent this. Lubricate dry, cracking skin with lotion or lanolin. Rubbing upwards aids circulation. Wear clean stockings and wide shoes without irritating stitches and wrinkles. For a toenail trim, see a pediatrist, or cut each nail U-shaped, with the outside edges jutting forward. Ingrown toenails can kill; with each one you take your life in your hands.

You can prevent most complications by controlling your diabetes with that diet, insulin and medicine your doctor prescribed. Call him for even minor infections.

You can't fight back if your diabetes lurks undiscovered. Ask your doctor for the simple test. Any week can be Diabetes Detection Week!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

Case for General Walker

By George Sokolsky

General Edwin A. Walker has resigned from the armed services after serving his country as a commissioned officer for 30 years. He has not been given a trial. He has not been court-martialed for any violation of the military regulations of this country. As he stated to the United States Armed Services Committee:

"My career has been destroyed in its usefulness to my country. I cannot accept retirement with its emoluments and benefits. To do so would be a compromise with my principle."

Until General Walker has had his day in court, openly, so that all the American people can know exactly what happened, the conclusion must be that he has been unfairly treated, as General "Billy" Mitchell was unfairly treated, as General Douglas MacArthur was unfairly treated, as General Patton might have been more unfairly treated but for public opinion. There can be no excuse for improper treatment for men in uniform.

General Walker takes the position:

"We are at war. We are infiltrated. We are losing that war every day. Are our hands tied, yours and mine? We need a substitute for defeat. If it is not within the power of this Congress to provide it—then the people of these United States are not truly represented."

The theory that a military man is silenced by his uniform cannot be substantiated in a free country. A military officer does not lose his mind or his capacity for articulation by the simple act of joining the Army. General Walker quotes George Washington to uphold his own position:

"If men are to be precluded from offering their sentiments on a matter, which may involve the most serious and alarming consequences that can invite the consideration of mankind, reason is of no use to us; the freedom of speech may be taken away, and dumb and silent we may be led, like sheep to the slaughter."

What has been General Walker's crime? He is opposed to Communism. He has recognized Soviet Russia as our enemy and in the indoctrination of the troops under his command he said so. Discussing this, General Walker said:

"We have yet to agree among ourselves, and with our allies, to reach a simple definition—Communist is the enemy. We employ its agents in the teaching professions, allowing them to work on the fertile minds of youth seeking a champion to pit against a scapegoat. They infect our entertainment media. They long ago have infiltrated our government so that a scheme of subversion can be traced through three decades.

"Even our free press is exploited by Communist propagandists. Communist collaborators find rabid and militant defense among certain groups of our citizens, some of whom are sincerely confused and misguided. Governments which oppose the leaders of these groups and their purposes often are branded reactionary. In other nations of our hemisphere, we have seen these groups seize absolute power. In Cuba, it was with out help."

The time has come for a public hearing for and against General Walker. Let us get at the facts, whatever they may be. General Walker has already made a statement to the U. S. "The Bookmailer Inc." in New York has issued General Walker's statement in pamphlet form and that is now available to the public. Youth Chairman Harold Furniss announced that the Youth Group had won first place in the State on its one act play entitled "One Happy Family". Their county installation team has been installing officers in this county and surrounding counties.

Pomona voted to send a contribution to Veterans Hospital at Chillicothe.

Mrs. Helen Schleich, Pomona lecturer, was chosen to attend the four state Lecture's Conference at the Youth Center in Columbus November 27, 28, and 29.

Mr. Ray Plumb was elected to serve as a member of the Executive Committee for a three year term.

Reports were read by all the subordinate secretaries listing their activities for the last quarter. Dowler presented each secretary with a certificate of merit or getting all reports in on time to the State Grange.

A gavel made from wood on the Oliver Kelley farm, the founder of the Grange, was presented to Pomona for entry in the Community Service contest. Each Subordinate Grange received a seal and two subordinate manuals for 100 per cent entry in community service in county. Mt. Pleasant Granges received a $50 bond and a bar for its plaque for the third year winning in the contest.

Mrs. Frances Follrod and Mrs. Opal Overly of Star Grange were received as new members in the Pomona Grange. The 1962 Pomona rosters were distributed.

Mrs. Helen Schleich was in charge of the program using as her theme "Praise and Thanksgiving". The group sang "Come Ye Thankful People Come". A vocal solo "Bless This House" was sung by Carroll Reid.

A tip on safety "Baking Soda - A Fire Fighter" was given, showing the many uses of soda in fighting small fires in the home and in cars.

Around the altar with Wayne Luckhart as reader, each group gave their "Thanks" for agriculture, education, legislation, community service, public relations, and recreation. Each lit candles for these activities of the Grange. A circle was then formed around the altar by the entire group. They sang "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow."

Mrs. Frances Neff was winner of the cornshelling contest and Mrs. Harold Bumgarner winner of the turkey guessing contest. Each received a prize.

An impressive closing song was "America The Beautiful" with Lawrence Reid as reader. Mrs. Russell Shannon, soloist, and Mrs. Herman Porter and members of Star Grange in charge of tableaux.

Mr. Harold Bumgarner presented a stepladder stunt for the closing number.

Diabetes Drive Starts Today

Today marks the beginning of Diabetes Week in Circleville.

For the next seven days a city-wide effort under the direction of the Pickaway County Medical Society, will be conducted for the dual purpose of:

Discovering the unknown diabetics in the city and alerting them to the need for prompt medical care; and educating the entire public to recognize the symptoms of the ailment which ranks seventh among the leading causes of death by disease.

All citizens of Circleville were urged to take part in the Diabetes Detection Drive during the week by Dr. V. D. Kerns, drive chairman. He said that all members of the community should take the simple test because anyone can have diabetes in hidden form and not know it unless he is tested.

DR. KERNS noted that the theme of this year's Diabetes Detection Drive, "What You Don't Know Can Hurt You", expressed the danger of neglect of the condition, which can lead to serious complications. Early detection and prompt medical care, however, almost always enable a diabetic to lead a normal life.

Tests for all members of the community are available without cost at the testing center located in Berger Hospital's Laboratory Department and at doctors' offices throughout the county.

Dr. Kerns added that tests will be given at Berger Hospital from 1-3 p. m. Wednesday and Thursday only.

Coast Guard Reserve Holds Wartime Drill

CLEVELAND (AP)—A ship was searched for radioactive materials, action was taken against infiltration of restricted areas by saboteurs and fire controls were set up in dock areas.

All this was done by about 350 members of the coast Guard Reserve during the weekend in a mobilization drill which simulated wartime conditions.

Cmdr. Edward S. Reeves, in charge of electronics training for the reserves in the Cleveland area, said the exercise, "Operation Lakeside," was "good in all phases." It pointed up, however, a "need for further training," he said.

Ohio Mental Health Setup Awaits Legislature Decision

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Back in the mid-50s, an Ohio legislature controlled by Republicans plumped completely for a new and exciting concept of mental health.

It was simply this: By judicious use of both brains and bricks, there was real hope for the recovery of thousands of Ohioans stricken with mental illness.

It was expected to be a very expensive program, at least for a few years, but the long-range prospects were rosy both in human values and in money.

The legislature enthusiastically set aside $10 million for the education of the brains who were to do the job.

Then it asked the electorate to approve a $150-million bond issue, half of it to pay for new mental and correctional institutions—the "bricks" in the new program.

The voters apparently were happy to see Ohio take a big step forward. They "bought" the program overwhelmingly.

It seemed that Ohio's public policy in the field was firmly established.

In due course, the educational program produced the experts needed. And, with the passage of time, the new institutions have been built. Over the last couple of years, thousands of employees have been added to staff the new facilities and give the patients the needed care and treatment.

But now the "bricks and brains" program finds itself in sudden financial trouble—a firm refusal on the part of another Republican legislature to support the program even at the level of operation it has reached in the last year.

Since even a number of lawmakers have had difficulty following the arithmetic of the problem, it probably would be well to start at the beginning.

For the two-year period ended last June 30, the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction lived on a budget of $180 million.

Early this year, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle suggested that, with all the new facilities and their staffing problems, the departmental budget should be $213.2 million in the budget period ending June 30, 1963.

The lawmakers wouldn't accept that figure. It was chopped by $17.7 million — down to $195.5 million — before the appropriations bill was even introduced on the House floor.

In the legislative process, another $6.7 million was shaved from the departmental budget until, when the bill finally was passed, the mental health and correction program was told to get along on $188.8 million in the next two years.

This, the Republicans pointed out, was $8.8 million more than the department had to spend in 1959-61.

But, during the two-year period, at various times, 15 new mental health facilities had been opened and staffed and the department's payroll had swelled considerably.

If the department had been spending for the entire 1959-61 budget period at the rate it was spending at the end of the period, the deficiency would have been tremendous. But, since the budget approved in 1959 had taken into consideration the fact that new facilities would be put in service gradually, everything came out even for the 1959-61 budget period.

But the $8.8 budget increase granted by the legislature for the 1961-63 budget period was nowhere close to meeting the department's anticipated costs even at the level established as early as last June.

Cutbacks in the department started promptly. No new employees were hired for several months to replace those lost through normal turnover.

And 182 professional employees — some of them trained with money set aside by the legislature during the enthusiasm of the mid-50s — were cut loose from the state payroll.

Gov. DiSalle, unhappy with budget allotments for mental health and other state programs, vetoed the entire appropriation for the second year of the 1961-63 biennium. The legislature returns to Columbus Tuesday to make another attempt to make appropriations to run the state government from July 1, 1962, to June 30, 1963.

Shelter Program Is Called 'Hoax'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The publisher of Scientific American magazine says the government-sponsored fallout shelter program is a "hoax and illusion" and psychologically dangerous because it "brings the third world war closer."

The publisher, Gerard Piel told a meeting of the Commonwealth Club of Northern California Friday of the program "gives the sanction of action to the delusion that a thermonuclear war can be fought and survived. It encourages statesmen to take larger risks. It disengages the citizen from vigilance over the rationality and responsibility of his elected officials."

Nixon Believes Stalin Laurels Not 'Convenient'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon claims Stalin's body was removed from its Kremlin crypt because "it was no longer convenient to the newer members of the Soviet deity to honor him."

"Even our own nation found it expedient to bestow honor and extravagant praise on Stalin during the war," Nixon told the Catholic Press Council of Southern California.

Diabetes Drive Starts Today

Today marks the beginning of Diabetes Week in Circleville.

For the next seven days a city-wide effort under the direction of the Pickaway County Medical Society, will be conducted for the dual purpose of:

Discovering the unknown diabetics in the city and alerting them to the need for prompt medical care; and educating the entire public to recognize the symptoms of the ailment which ranks seventh among the leading causes of death by disease.

All citizens of Circleville were urged to take part in the Diabetes Detection Drive during the week by Dr. V. D. Kerns, drive chairman. He said that all members of the community should take the simple test because anyone can have diabetes in hidden form and not know it unless he is tested.

DR. KERNS noted that the theme of this year's Diabetes Detection Drive, "What You Don't Know Can Hurt You", expressed the danger of neglect of the condition, which can lead to serious complications. Early detection and prompt medical care, however, almost always enable a diabetic to lead a normal life.

Tests for all members of the community are available without cost at the testing center located in Berger Hospital's Laboratory Department and at doctors' offices throughout the city.

Dr. Kerns added that tests will be given at Berger Hospital from 1-3 p. m. Wednesday and Thursday only.

GUIDE 111—Elwyn Myers, 26, Pentwater, Mich., recuperates in a Dryden, Ont., hospital after being lost in the bush with a guide (1) for 10 days. He and the guide, Thomas Strong, 23, McIntosh, Ont., ate raw rabbit and deer meat, which they shot. They used the deer's hide for a blanket at night.

Coast Guard Reserve Holds Wartime Drill

CLEVELAND (AP) — A ship was searched for radioactive materials, action was taken against infiltration of restricted areas by saboteurs and fire controls were set up in dock areas.

All this was done by about 350 members of the coast Guard Reserve during the weekend in a mobilization drill which simulated wartime conditions.

Cmdr. Edward S. Reeves, in charge of electronics training for the reserves in the Cleveland area, said the exercise, "Operation Lakeside," was "good in all phases." It pointed up, however, a "need for further training," he said.

Ohio Mental Health Setup Awaits Legislature Decision

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Back in the mid-50s, an Ohio legislature controlled by Republicans plumped completely for a new and exciting concept of mental health.

It was simply this: By judicious use of both brains and bricks, there was real hope for the recovery of thousands of Ohioans stricken with mental illness.

It was expected to be a very expensive program, at least for a few years, but the long-range prospects were rosy both in human values and in money.

The legislature enthusiastically set aside $10 million for the education of the brains who were to do the job.

Then it asked the electorate to approve a $150-million bond issue, half of it to pay for new mental and correctional institutions—the "bricks" in the new program.

The voters apparently were happy to see Ohio take a big step forward. They "bought" the program overwhelmingly.

It seemed that Ohio's public policy in the field was firmly established.

In due course, the educational program produced the experts needed. And, with the passage of time, the new institutions have been built. Over the last couple of years, thousands of employes have been added to staff the new facilities and give the patients the needed care and treatment.

But now the "bricks and brains" program finds itself in sudden financial trouble—a firm refusal on the part of another Republican legislature to support the program even at the level of operation it has reached in the last year.

Since even a number of lawmakers have had difficulty following the arithmetic of the problem, it probably would be well to start at the beginning.

For the two-year period ended last June 30, the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction lived on a budget of $180 million.

Early this year, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle suggested that, with all the new facilities and their staffing problems, the departmental budget should be $213.2 million in the budget period ending June 30, 1963.

The lawmakers wouldn't accept that figure. It was chopped by $17.7 million — down to $195.5 million — before the appropriations bill was even introduced on the House floor.

In the legislative process, another $6.7 million was shaved from the departmental budget until, when the bill finally was passed, the mental health and correction program was told to get along on $188.8 million in the next two years.

This, the Republicans pointed out, was $8.8 million more than the department had to spend in 1959-61.

But, during the two-year period, at various times, 15 new mental health facilities had been opened and staffed and the department's payroll had swelled considerably.

If the department had been spending for the entire 1959-61 budget period at the rate it was spending at the end of the period, the deficiency would have been tremendous. But, since the budget approved in 1959 had taken into consideration the fact that new facilities would be put in service gradually, everything came out even for the 1959-61 budget period.

But the $8.8 budget increase granted by the legislature for the 1961-63 budget period was nowhere close to meeting the department's anticipated costs even at the level established as early as last June.

Cutbacks in the department started promptly. No new employes were hired for several months to replace those lost through normal turnover.

And 182 professional employes — some of them trained with money set aside by the legislature during the enthusiasm of the mid-50s—were cut loose from the state payroll.

Gov. DiSalle, unhappy with budget allotments for mental health and other state programs, vetoed the entire appropriation for the second year of the 1961-63 biennium.

The legislature returns to Columbus Tuesday to make another attempt to make appropriations to run the state government from July 1, 1962, to June 30, 1963.

Shelter Program Is Called 'Hoax'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The publisher of Scientific American magazine says the government-sponsored fallout shelter program is a "hoax and illusion" and psychologically dangerous because it "brings the third world war closer."

The publisher, Gerard Piel told a meeting of the Commonwealth Club of Northern California Friday the program "gives the sanction of action to the delusion that a thermonuclear war can be fought and survived. It encourages statesmen to take larger risks. It disengages the citizen from vigilance over the rationality and responsibility of his elected officials."

Nixon Believes Stalin Laurels Not 'Convenient'

LOS ANGELES (AP)— Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon claims Stalin's body was removed from its Kremlin crypt because "it was no longer convenient to the newer members of the Soviet deity to honor him."

"Even our own nation found it expedient to bestow honor and extravagant praise on Stalin during the war," Nixon told the Catholic Press Council of Southern California.

2 Teenage Escapees Flee Clermont Jail

Harold Edward Hall, 17, Batavia, and Ronald Hornsbv, 14, Withamsville, escaped Sunday after prying loose some bars on the door of their cell in the jail's juvenile detention quarters.

U.S. Secret Service Agent Dies at Age 36

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — John E. Schley, 36, agent in charge of the U.S. Secret Service office here, died Sunday in Riverside Methodist Hospital after undergoing surgery for stomach ulcers.

Schley, of suburban Worthington, was a native of Lakewood, a Cleveland suburb.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Have a Heart-to-Heart!

DEAR ABBY: Please don't tell me to go to a doctor because we owe every doctor in town and I'm not kidding. What's wrong with me? When someone asks me a question, I start to tell the truth, but end up telling a lie. I lie about little things, like where I buy my clothes and who cuts my hair. I am 15 and don't get an allowance, so when the kids ask me to go with them, I never say, "I can't"—I say, "I don't want to."

I have a quick temper and tell all the wrong people off and am sorry the next minute. Sometimes I think I'm going crazy. Is there any hope for me?

UNHAPPY
DEAR UNHAPPY: You need a friend. Most people lie because they lack the courage to tell the truth. If there is a teacher, clergyman, or mature adult with whom you can talk frankly, do so. Your problem is not as hopeless as you think it is. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were engaged four years before we were married. He was away in service most of this time. He wrote me beautiful love letters. I have kept all of them and they run into the hundreds. Now he has asked me please to destroy them because he doesn't ever want anyone else to read them. I doubt if anyone could get to them in our home. Do you think there is any harm in keeping them?

SENTIMENTAL
DEAR SENTIMENTAL: It all depends on what's in the letters. If they are inflammable—you'd be wise to burn them.

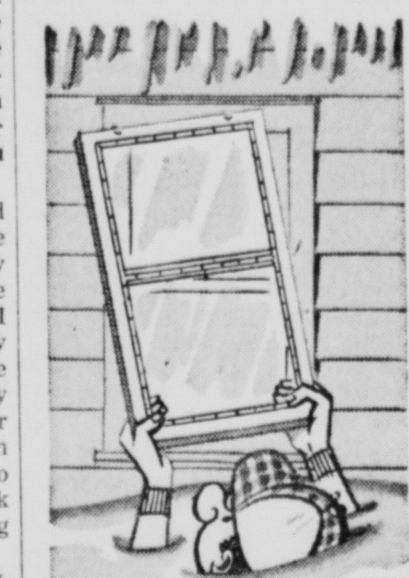

DEAR ABBY: Perhaps I am too tender-hearted. I belong to an Over Sixty club. I am 62 and have been widowed 3 years. Another widow and I go to their Saturday night dances. The minute I walk in, a gent who is over 70 immediately meets me at the door and I am stuck with him the entire evening. He seems to like me but he never asks me out. Other men appear interested in me but they don't have a chance because this man monopolizes me. How can I get rid of him without hurting his feelings?

TENDER-HEARTED:
DEAR TENDER-HEARTED: Here is a case where age can learn from youth. Enlist the help of a friend. She can subtly let other interested parties know that you are not attached to this "over 70" gent by choice, and would appreciate being "rescued" occasionally.

CONFIDENTIAL TO AL AT THE STORE: Better marry a girl who's broke than one who's cracked.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of the entire evening. He seems to self-addressed envelope.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Have a Heart-to-Heart!

DEAR ABBY: Please don't tell me to go to a doctor because we owe every doctor in town and I'm not kidding. What's wrong with me? When someone asks me a question, I start to tell the truth, but end up telling a lie. I lie about little things, like where I buy my clothes and who cuts my hair. I am 15 and don't get an allowance, so when the kids ask me to go with them, I never say, "I can't"—I say, "I don't want to."

I have a quick temper and tell all the wrong people off and am sorry the next minute. Sometimes I think I'm going crazy. Is there any hope for me?

UNHAPPY
DEAR UNHAPPY: You need a friend. Most people lie because they lack the courage to tell the truth. If there is a teacher, clergyman, or mature adult with whom you can talk frankly, do so. Your problem is not as hopeless as you think it is. Good luck.

Deer Oswald Outfoxes Deer Hunters

PRESTONSBURG, Ky. (AP) — Oswald is a deer who loves people.

Hundreds of residents of this eastern Kentucky area worried themselves sick about Oswald during the four-day open season on deer when hunters stalked the colorful hill country.

They didn't take into account that Oswald was as clever as he is lovable. Oswald deftly beat a strategic retreat to a remote section where there was almost no hunting.

There, said conservation officer Raymond Copley, Oswald has been living in grassy pastureland. In bad weather, he makes use of a warm barn provided by Bill Boyd, a farmer in the Calf Creek section of Floyd County.

From his birth about 21 months ago, Oswald has trusted people. Fo, quite a while he lived with them, romping on lawns, meandering into the house, and feeding himself in neighborhood gardens.

When he added tobacco leaves to his diet, the neighbors decided to evict him. He was sent to the Dewey Lake area to become what he was born to be—a wild deer.

Each of the four nights during the deer season which ended Saturday at sundown, one of Oswald's closest friends, Arnold Workman, checked the stations which register hunters' kills.

Oswald wasn't among the dead. Now he is free again to roam the hill country. The people who love him have stopped worrying until next year.

CHS Booster Club To Meet Tuesday

Officers and directors of the Circleville Booster Club will meet 8 p. m. Tuesday in the high school social rooms.

President Charles Hart said a main item of business will be to make plans for the coming football banquet for the SCOL co-champion Circleville Tigers.

Reports also will be heard concerning the club's Pumpkin Show projects.

Moore Retains Feather Crown

TOKYO (AP) — World featherweight champion Davey Moore dropped game and rugged Kazuo Takayama for a nine-count in the 13th round tonight and outclassed the tough Japanese to retain his title on a unanimous 15-round decision.

Moore, in making his fourth title defense, had his hands full in whipping Takayama for the second time in two years. The Columbus, Ohio, Negro, 28, outpointed the 25-year-old Japanese last year.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's hunters—a half million of 'em—take to the fields Wednesday in quest of the elusive pheasant and rabbit.

Adios Butler Wins Finale Of Career

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP)—There was a note of sadness mingled with eager anticipation around Barn O at Roosevelt Raceway today.

Adios Butler, the greatest pacer ever, is through with racing after smashing many major records as he won 37 of his 40 starts in three seasons of competition.

Ahead of the 5-year-old son of Daio lies a stud career, which his handlers fully expect will produce outstanding results.

"He sure is a great horse," said Sylvanus Henry, the Butler's 52-year-old groom. He tended the Butler through sickness and health almost ever since Paige West of Snow Hill, Md., bought the unimpressive looking yearling at the Harrisburg, Pa., sales for $6,000.

The Butler's farewell to competition was a neck victory over Apmat Saturday in the $50,000 National Pacing Derby at Roosevelt. His time of 2:31 3-5 for 1 1/4 miles matched the track record.

The $25,000 the Butler won Saturday boosted his bankroll to $509, 844 compared to Bye Bye Byrd's record $554,257.

Next stop for Adios Butler will be a farm near Washington C.H., Ohio, where he will be retired to stud.

Deer Oswald
Outfoxes
Deer Hunters

PRESTONSBURG, Ky. (AP) — Oswald is a deer who loves people.
Hundreds of residents of this eastern Kentucky area worried themselves sick about Oswald during the four-day open season on deer when hunters stalked the colorful hill country.

There, said conservation officer Raymond Copley, Oswald has been living in grassy pastureland. In bad weather, he makes use of a warm barn provided by Bill Boyd, a farmer in the Calf Creek section of Floyd County.

From his birth about 21 months ago, Oswald has trusted people. For quite a while he lived with them, romping on lawns, meandering into the house, and feeding himself in neighborhood gardens.

When he added tobacco leaves to his diet, the neighbors decided to evict him. He was sent to the Dewey Lake area to become what he was born to be—a wild deer.

Each of the four nights during the deer season which ended Saturday at sundown, one of Oswald's closest friends, Arnold Workman, checked the stations which register hunters' kills.

Oswald wasn't among the dead. Now he is free again to roam the hill country. The people who love him have stopped worrying until next year.

Moore Retains Feather Crown

TOKYO (AP) — World feather-weight champion Davey Moore dropped game and rugged Kazuo Takayama for a nine-count in the 13th round tonight and outclassed the tough Japanese to retain his title on a unanimous 15-round decision.

Moore, in making his fourth title defense, had his hands full in whipping Takayama for the second time in two years. The Columbus, Ohio, Negro, 28, outpointed the 25-year-old Japanese last year.

Adios Butler
Wins Finale
Of Career

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP)—There was a note of sadness mingled with eager anticipation around Barn O at Roosevelt Raceway today.

Adios Butler, the greatest pacer ever, is through with racing after smashing many major records as he won 37 of his 40 starts in three seasons of competition.

Ahead of the 5-year-old son of Daiois lies a stud career, which his handlers fully expect will produce outstanding results.

Ohio Collegiate Grid Season Nearing Finale

Only 2 Games Left
On Schedule after
This Coming Weekend

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Except for a two-game ellipogue — one of which could have cross-country reverberations — Ohio's collegiate football teams drop the curtain Saturday on a sensational season.

After this week's games, only
Detroit at Cincinnati and Ohio State at Michigan remain on the slate. Both are scheduled Nov.
25, and the Buckeye-Wolverine clash is the make-or-break one for Ohio State. On the result rides a share of the Big Ten title and a possible bid to the Rose Bowl.

The Buckeyes, third ranked in the country, added little to their prestige Saturday as they eked out a 16-7 victory over out-manned Indiana. The Hoosiers declined to accept the underdog role gracefully and menaced the Bucks all day.

Joe Sparma's pair of touchdown passes, to Paul Warfield and Chuck Bryant, and Dick Van Raaphorst's field goal accounted for the Ohio scores as the Bucks rolled to their sixth straight win — fifth in the Big Ten — after the opening tie with Texas Christian.
Baldwin - Wallace, ranked second among the smaller colleges, also had a rugged time. But the Jackets came from behind to nip Findlay's Oilers 14-8 and retain their status as the state's only unbeaten-untied team.

Otterbein was Saturday's big casualty. The Cardinals, winners of seven in a row this season and 13 straight over two years, built up a 17-0 advantage at the half but couldn't hold on as Capital zoomed for a 23-17 conquest.

The Otterbein upset and Wittenberg's classy 41-7 showing against Ohio Wesleyan gave the Springfield Lutherans the undisputed Ohio Conference championship with a 6-0 mark. Otterbein, Akron and Muskingum are deadlocked for second at 5-1, but the Rubber City Zippers can take the runner-up spot Saturday by downing Mount Union since the others have finished the campaign.

Ohio State entertains Oregon's Webfoots Saturday, and despite the 4-4 record of Coach Len Casanova's invaders the clash appears as no picnic for the Bucks. Minnesota's defending national champions, tied with Ohio for the conference lead, were only 14-7 victors over the Oregon club which Saturday dropped a 22-21 affair with Washington State.

Bowling Green, shorn of its Mid-American title last year, eked out a 7-6 victory over Ohio University's defending champions on an extra point by Asa Elisea, after recovering a fumble and going 36 yards for a touchdown in the last period.

The victory gave the Bee-Gees at least a share of the conference crown — and they take it all if the Bobcats can beat or the Western Michigan when the Broncos invade Athens in Saturday's windup.
Utah State wrecked the Michigan team 65-22 Saturday.

In other Saturday features,
Wilmington lost its 17th straight,
34-13 to Taylor of Indiana; Kent
State dropped its sixth in a row, 19-15 to Louisville; Miami outclassed Dayton 48-6 for its third consecutive conquest after a shaky start; Xavier nosed out Marshall 3-2; Muskingum continued its 13-year domination over Wooster 6-0; Western Reserve won over John Carroll 6-0, although held to minus five yards rushing; and once-beaten Central State wound up with a 49-6 nod over Grand Rapids.

Michigan State tangles with Northwestern, Mississippi will have no secunure with Tennessee, Colorado will try to a snap back against Nebraska, and Missouri
meets Kansas State.

Besides Colorado and Georgia
Tech., powerhouses like Michigan
State and Missouri, along with
California and Oregon were victims of upsets. Purdue edged Michigan State, 7-6, when Don Brumm blocked a conversion attempt. Oklahoma, the ex-Big Eight king, nipped Missouri, 7-0. The Air Force Academy, which had lost five of seven games, turned back
California, 15-14, and Washington
State dropped Oregon, 22-21.

This Saturday, Texas plays
Texas Christian, Ohio State, No.
3 in the AP poll last week — and a possible Rose Bowl choice if Minnesota falters — goes against Oregon. Louisiana State has a date with Mississippi State while Minnesota faces dangerous Purdue.

Bowl Assignment Scramble Opens

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The annual scramble among college football's elite for postseason bowl assignments was under way in earnest today with less than a half dozen squads able to relax.
Texas, riding like a prairie wind toward the national title, is one.
Then there are Alabama, Louisiana State, Mississippi and Colorado. All the others still are sitting on pins and needles hopefully awaiting bids.

Texas (8-0) is virtually assured the Southwest Conference title and the host spot in the Cotton Bowl.
Mississippi (7-1) probably will provide the opposition.

Alabama (8-0), second-ranked in the weekly Associated Press poll behind Texas, is rolling toward the Southeastern Conference crown and a bid to the Sugar Bowl.
Bama also has been sounded out by the Rose Bowl.

Louisiana State (7-1) probably will provide Alabama's opposition in a head-on meeting of SEC powers. They don't meet during the regular season and the game would be a natural. Alabama has a toughie this week in Georgia Tech, but the Crimson Tide probably can afford a defeat and still get home free.

Colorado (7-1) looms as the Big Eight champion and should head for the Orange Bowl. The Buffaloes, beaten out of the conference by Utah, 21-12, last Saturday in one of the major upsets of the day, can still be tied for the title by Kansas. But the Buffs licked the Jayhawks earlier in the season. The Orange Bowl reserves the right to pick any Big Eight team, champion or no.

Georgia Tech (6-2) was assured a spot in the Orange Bowl until it was upended by Tennessee, 10-6, in another Saturday surprise.
Tech probably still will get the call.

The Rose Bowl, granddaddy of them all — assuming it doesn't get Alabama — probably will go back to the Big Ten, although it no longer is under any obligation to do so. That might mean Minnesota (6-1). The Gophers no doubt would like to go back to Pasadena in hopes of making amends for their poor showing against Washington last Jan. 2. UCLA is the favorite for the host spot although it must get past Southern California to wrap it up.

The Gator Bowl could wind up with Maryland (6-2) and Arkansas (6-2). That would leave the other bowl to shift for themselves for the remainder of the talent.

The rash of upsets Saturday left just three major teams undefeated and untied — Texas, Alabama and Rutgers. Texas clobbered Baylor, 33-7. Alabama crushed Richmond, 66-0, and Rutgers defeated Delaware, 27-19, for
No. 7.

Besides Colorado and Georgia
Tech., powerhouses like Michigan
State and Missouri, along with
California and Oregon were victims of upsets. Purdue edged Michigan State, 7-6, when Don Brumm

nesota falters — goes against Oregon. Louisiana State has a date

Saturday's Answer

Ohio Collegiate Grid Season Nearing Finale

Only 2 Games Left
On Schedule after
This Coming Weekend

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Except for a two-game ellipogue — one of which could have cross-country reverberations — Ohio's collegiate football teams drop the curtain Saturday on a sensational season.

After this week's games, only Detroit at Cincinnati and Ohio State at Michigan remain on the slate. Both are scheduled Nov. 25, and the Buckeye-Wolverine clash is the make-or-break one for Ohio State. On the result rides a share of the Big Ten title and a possible bid to the Rose Bowl.

The Buckeyes, third ranked in the country, added little to their prestige Saturday as they eked out a 16-7 victory over out-manned Indiana. The Hoosiers declined to accept the underdog role gracefully and menaced the Bucks all day.

Joe Sparma's pair of touchdown passes, to Paul Warfield and Chuck Bryant, and Dick Van Raaphorst's field goal accounted for the Ohio scores as the Bucks rolled to their sixth straight win — fifth in the Big Ten — after the opening tie with Texas Christian. Baldwin - Wallace, ranked second among the smaller colleges, also had a rugged time. But the Jackets came from behind to nip Findlay's Oilers 14-8 and retain their status as the state's only unbeaten-untied team.

Otterbein was Saturday's big casualty. The Cardinals, winners of seven in a row this season and 13 straight over two years, built up a 17-0 advantage at the half but couldn't hold on as Capital zoomed for a 23-17 conquest.

The Otterbein upset and Wittenberg's classy 41-7 showing against Ohio Wesleyan gave the Springfield Lutherans the undisputed Ohio Conference championship with a 6-0 mark. Otterbein, Akron and Muskingum are deadlocked for second at 5-1, but the Rubber City Zippers can take the runner-up spot Saturday by downing Mount Union since the others have finished the campaign.

Ohio State entertains Oregon's Webfoots Saturday, and despite the 4-4 record of Coach Len Casanova's invaders the clash appears as no picnic for the Bucks. Minnesota's defending national champions, tied with Ohio for the conference lead, were only 14-7 victors over the Oregon club which Saturday dropped a 22-21 affair with Washington State.

Bowling Green, shorn of its Mid-American title last year, eked out a 7-6 victory over Ohio University's defending champions on an extra point by Asa Elsea after recovering a fumble and going 36 yards for a touchdown in the last period.

The victory gave the Bee-Gees at least a share of the conference crown — and they take it all if the Bobcats can beat or tie the Western Michigan when the Broncos invade Athens in Saturday's windup. Utah State wrecked the Michigan team 65-22 Saturday.

In other Saturday features, Wilmington lost its 17th straight, 34-13 to Taylor of Indiana; Kent State dropped its sixth in a row, 19-15 to Louisville; Miami out-clasped Dayton 48-6 for its third consecutive conquest after a shaky start; Xavier nosed out Marshall 3-2; Muskingum continued its 13-year domination over Wooster 6-0; Western Reserve won over John Carroll 6-0, although held to minus five yards rushing; and once-beaten Central State wound up with a 49-6 nod over Grand Rapids.

Michigan State tangles with Northwestern. Mississippi will have no sinecure with Tennessee. Colorado will try to snap back against Nebraska, and Missouri meets Kansas State.

The rash of upsets Saturday left just three major teams undefeated and untied — Texas, Alabama and Rutgers. Texas clobbered Baylor, 66-0, and Alabama crushed Richmond, 66-0, and Rutgers defeated Delaware, 27-19, for No. 7.

Rooney Named Week's Player In Tiger Win over Panthers

Star captain and center Pat Rooney, who played his last game in a Red and Black uniform in Friday's 33-13 Tiger win over Pleasant View, was selected by his coaches today as the Circleville Player of the Week in the final balloting of the grid season.

Rooney, mentioned as a possible all-state candidate for his outstanding work in spearheading the first Bengal South Central Ohio League championship team in over 10 years, notched the year's highest grade — a 2.89 — after CHS coaches reviewed films of the PV game. It was the third time he has received the award.

The husky senior also collected the most Tiger Heads, awards for outstanding individual plays of any CHS gridders in 1961. Three awards in the Pleasant View tilt brought his total for the season to 17.

Close behind Rooney in the runner-up spot was Freddie Moore, who marked a 2.85 in the final Tiger game. Moore, a halfback, was also second to Rooney in year-long Tiger Head awards with a total of 13, four of them for plays in the Pleasant View encounter.

AS A TEAM the Tigers averaged 2.85. Following the leaders in individual performance were Dave Hannahs, 2.64, Tom Copland, 2.58, and Duke Fyffe, with 2.50. Coach Carl Benhase labeled the game Moore's "Best of the season", while adding Rooney had been a consistent standout.

Both players, plus several other Circleville boys, are strong candidates for the all-SCOT team to be officially announced tonight during the fall league football banquet and meeting at the Washington Country Club in Washington, C. H.

Harsha Is Due For Visit Here

Republican Congressman William H. Harsha Jr., Ohio Sixth District, will make a two-hour visit here Nov. 24, as part of a "grass roots" tour of the district.

Harsha said the purpose of his tour will be to meet his constituents and help them with their problems concerning the Federal government.

He also indicated he would be seeking the public's reaction to the Administration's domestic and foreign policy.

Harsha's two-hour session is scheduled in the Pickaway County Common Pleas Courtroom from 3-5 p. m.

1,300 Cincy Workmen Poised for Walkout

CINCINNATI (AP)—Some 1,300 workers at Trailmobile Co.'s Oakley truck building plant may go on strike unless a new three-year contract is signed by Wednesday noon.

The workers voted Sunday to authorize United Auto Workers Local 392 to call a strike, if necessary. A UAW spokesman said wages are not the major issue.

Movie Producers Shun Call For Better Image of America

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Edward R. Murrow has come and gone, and his mission to Hollywood was considerably less than a smash hit.

The noted newscaster, now director of the United States Information Agency, came to town to tell the film industry that it could do a better job in presenting the image of America abroad.

Murrow had two strikes against him:

1. Film producers don't like to be told what to do and will yell "censorship!" when someone in the government tries. Murrow realized this and even blunted some of the pointed remarks in his prepared speech.

2. Curiously for a onetime newscaster, he barred reporters from the dinner with producers. Federal officers reportedly enforced his dictum. His speech was delivered to news offices in a plain envelope amid mystery and turned out to be not the exact speech he delivered. It was not surprising that he got a bad press.

Murrow cited overseas reports: "From India—'movies are doing a lot of harm to America.' From Latin America—'Movies are a terrible influence.' From South-east Asia—'Movies misrepresent—We think of American housewives as useless drones always smoking and drinking cocktails.'" to deny Murrow's reports categorically and proclaim that American films were doing a splendid job overseas.

Producer Eric Johnston arose

"The whole thing was embarrassing," a producer declared afterward. "Nobody seemed to get Murrow's message at all. They didn't want to."

A look at the upcoming product shows a large supply of sex—"The Chapman Report," "All Fall Down," "Splendor in the Grass," and morbid psychology—"Sweet Bird of Youth," "Summer and Smoke," "Children's Hour."

The American government will be pictured with "Advise and Consent" and "The Best Man," which display the use of blackmail and corruption by high figures. American fumbling abroad is treated in "Judgment at Nuremberg," "Town without Pity" and "The Ugly American."

"The republic is in greater danger now than during the last two wars," Ed Murrow said in asking Hollywood's help. He doesn't appear to be getting it.

Phone Company Will Expand Base Rate Area Starting Today

Donald F. Colegrove, Circleville commercial manager for the General Telephone Co., today announced his firm will expand the local base rate area starting today.

The base rate area is the portion of the Circleville exchange within which private, two party and four party service is offered at regular rates. Outside the base rate area rural service is offered unless the subscriber is willing to pay additional monthly charges.

This additional charge increases with the distance away from the base rate area.

Colegrove said the move was made as a part of General Telephone Company's program to keep pace with residential growth in the areas they serve. He said between 125-150 subscribers will be affected by the change here.

MOST affected by the change is the Walnut Creek Pike-Dunkle Road section. All rural lines will be eliminated within the expanded boundary and the additional charge now paid by many residents there with private, two party and four party service also will be curtailed.

Rooney Named Week's Player In Tiger Win over Panthers

Star captain and center Pat Rooney, who played his last game in a Red and Black uniform in Friday's 33-13 Tiger win over Pleasant View, was selected by his coaches today as the Circleville Player of the Week in the final balloting of the grid season.

Rooney, mentioned as a possible all-state candidate for his outstanding work in spearheading the first Bengal South Central Ohio League championship team in over 10 years, notched the year's highest grade — a 2.89 — after CHS coaches reviewed films of the PV game. It was the third time he has received the award.

The husky senior also collected the most Tiger Heads, awards for outstanding individual plays of any CHS griddier in 1961. Three awards in the Pleasant View tilt brought his total for the season to 17.

Close behind Rooney in the runner-up spot was Freddie Moore, who marked a 2.85 in the final Tiger game. Moore, a halfback, was also second to Rooney in year-long Tiger Head awards with a total of 13, four of them for plays in the Pleasant View encounter.

AS A TEAM the Tigers averaged 2.85. Following the leaders in individual performance were Dave Hannahs, 2.64, Tom Copland, 2.58, and Duke Fyffe, with 2.50. Coach Carl Benhase labeled the game Moore's "Best of the season", while adding Rooney had been a consistent standout.

Both players, plus several other Circleville boys, are strong candidates for the all-SCOL team to be officially announced tonight during the fall league football banquet and meeting at the Washington Country Club in Washington, C. H.

Father, Son Banquet Set By Methodists

Local Methodist men are set for an anticipated large observance of Father and Son Night here Wednesday.

President Gordon Frazer has announced plans for the largest banquet yet. He hopes to surpass the attendance mark of last month's meeting when 115 Methodist men turned out. He said with the help of a large number of sons the goal should be accomplished.

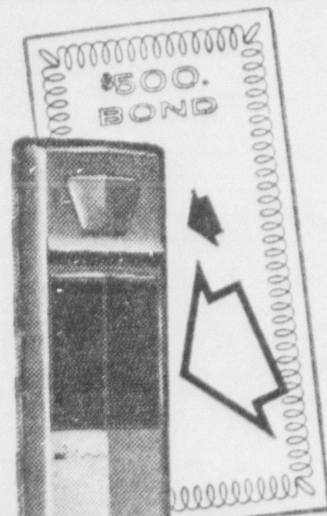

Frank Hoffman, program chairman, has scheduled Marvin Hamman of The Ohio State University Public Relations Department as the principle speaker. Hamman is well known as a sports announcer for the university's radio station.

A magician will be an added attraction on the program.

THE meeting will begin with the banquet at 6:30 p. m. Tickets will be available for Methodist fathers and sons at the door.

The menu will consist of turkey and all the trimmings.
